Pastoralist Areas Resilience Improvement and Market Expansion-PRIME Project 2005-2008

The "Pastoralist Areas Resilience Improvement and Market Expansion-PRIME" project aims to improve the livelihoods of pastoralists through market expansion and resilience improvement. It has been funded by the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) and implemented by a consortium of organizations.

The project focuses on enhancing market access and improving the resilience of pastoralist communities in Ethiopia. It has been successful in increasing the incomes of pastoralists and improving their ability to cope with shocks.

The project has been evaluated and found to be effective in achieving its goals. The evaluation has shown that the project has had a positive impact on the lives of pastoralists.

The project has also received support from other organizations, such as the World Bank and the United Nations Development Programme.

The "Pastoralist Areas Resilience Improvement and Market Expansion-PRIME" project has been a success story in Ethiopia, and it is hoped that other similar projects will be implemented in the future to benefit more communities.
